

Executive Roundtables: Shaping Tomorrow's Legal Landscape

The initiative – Not another event!

An exclusive opportunity to engage in intimate conversations and peer-to-peer exchange at the Association of Corporate Counsel's newest initiative tailored for General Counsel and senior legal leaders. Hosted in central London, these roundtable discussions will operate under Chatham House Rules, fostering an environment of trust and candid discussion. With no press present, participants can freely explore hot topics, share insights, and gain valuable perspectives from their peers.

The group

The roundtables will be accessible only to GCs and senior leaders of legal departments.

By limiting participation to key leaders, we ensure a forum where participants can engage in candid, in-depth discussions. This exclusive setting fosters an environment conducive to exchanging challenges, solutions, and cultivating trusted relationships among peers.

Through this targeted approach, we maximize the value of these gatherings, empowering legal leaders to address critical issues with depth, precision, and collective wisdom.

Every roundtable will have a host, a highly reputable senior ACC member who would encourage participation within their network and welcome attendees.

The topics

Every roundtable will have a theme which will be discussed by participants in an informal way. Topics will concern legal issues which are at the forefront for general counsels today, reflecting the rapidly evolving landscape of business, technology, and society.

These will include: Data Privacy and Cybersecurity; Corporate Governance; ESG; Supply Chain Risk Management; Crisis Management and Business Continuity; Evolving Regulatory Landscape; Globalization and International Expansion.
