“I had the privilege of working with Stephen as my coach, and the experience has truly been transformative. Whilst Stephen has built such a successful career of his own, he always took the time to listen without judgement and never imposed his opinions on my ideas. Stephen empowered me with tools to make sense of the thoughts and ideas and filter out unhelpful distractions that were making my career an unpleasant challenge. I am grateful for the positive impact Stephen has had on my career journey.”

“Working with Stephen over the past couple of years has been foundational in building a professional strategy that integrates life goals. Stephen emphasises the importance of having a long-term strategy, consciously revisiting it, and making sure that the steps we take along the way are aligned to the strategy. I particularly appreciate Stephen’s deep understanding of the way stress impacts our energy levels and his ability to give me the tools to gain a better self-awareness. After working with Stephen, I am more comfortable reflecting on myself and the way I react to different stresses, which in turn helps me to overcome them. “

“Working with Stephen has had a significant, lasting impact on me. During our time together, Stephen was able to help me tap into my already-existing talents and abilities to deal with challenges and obstacles confidently. Where before I was responding to situations as a victim, now—with Stephen’s coaching—I have developed my own successful strategies for dealing with those same situations positively and productively.

The strategies go far beyond just the office-place too. I'm seeing a path to realizing my full potential both at work and at home."
